AMUSEMENTS.

"A Lady of Quality" in London. LONDON, March 8 .- Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett's "A Lady of Quality," finely staged and mounted, was presented at the Comedy Theater this evening before a distinguished audience containing many Americars. Miss Eleanor Calhoun appeared in the role of Ciorinda Wildairs. Though the performance was a distinct success, the general opinion is that the play will not have a long run. At the close Mrs. Burnett appeared in front of the curtain and bowed her acknowledgments to the house.

John J. Ruddy, a well-known theatrical manager, dropped dead of apoplexy near his home, in New York, on Saturday morning. His body lay at the morgue until Sunday without being identified. His face was badly bruised and there is talk of foul play. Mr. Ruddy was last here with "The Gelsha" Company. He was manager for several of Hoyt's earlier plays and later was manager of "Chimmie Fadden." He had been at home in ill health for several months.

Chicago is not a producing city. It long ago proved itself incapabe of supporting first-class stock companies making original presentations of plays. And as long as it remains a purely combination town Chicago will have to be content with the engagements of the traveling companies as they are booked. Now and then it may be possible to extend an attraction's time there for a week, as in the present case of Maud Adams. But the practice won't become general while the biggest center in Illinois continues to be a purely provincial community.

AMPHION CLUB CONCERT.

Mr. Friedheim, the Pianist, Made a Pronounced Hit.

The concert given last evening at the Propylaeum by the Amphion Club was a gratifying success. There was a large and brilliant audience, which gave vent to a greater demonstration of enthusiasm than has been heard at any concert since the May festival. The lion's share of the applause was for Mr. Arthur Friedheim, the planist. Chopin, Liszt and Friedheim were the composers represented by him. As an exponent of the beauties of Chopin. In a single particular this number was not so satisfactory as Mme. Bloomfield-Zeisler's playing of it. The strong dramatic, tragic climax was not so skillfully wrought out. Mr. Friedheim's last selection was his own arrangement of the orchestral work could be arranged for the plano this one was by far the most satisfactory. At times it seemed as if the planist had more than ten fingers to assist him, so remarkably were the many parts sustained. The number showed his skill as a composer in connection with a superb power as an interpreter. Again the audience continued its applause, until for a third time an extra number was played. This proved a Chopin waltz, which was still another evidence of the planist's gift, so delightfully delicate and swinging in its rhythm and style. It was not just to demand more than the programme's quota from Mr. Friedheim, especially after such ompositions as he offered, and it is not considered artistic to respond to recalls. The concert proved to be by Mr. Friedhelm and the Amphion Club, instead of vice versa. This club gave its second annual concert, and this time under the direction of Mr. Karl Schneider. The club has vastly improved in its additional year's work, and gave four choruses in excellent style. The slightest motion met a response that brought clear and decisive effects. The quality of tone is rich and musical, and the volume of sound was even more than the assembly hall could well accommodate. Thirty-two of the best male voices in the city have many capabilities. The first chorus, "King Olaf's War Horns," with solo by Mr. Dochez, was given with fire and spirit, and the assistance of the brass quartet, with music arranged by Mr Schneider, was very effective. The work is tremendously difficult, with its weird melody and constantly-changing and varying harmonies, but the chorus was easily equal to it. Mr. Dochez sustained his high reputation as a baritone soloist. The next was a "Love Song," by J. Pache, in contrast to the first and equally well sung: the third was "The Army in the Desert," by Fr. Hegar; strange and pathetic, with a clash of the kettledrums to represent the shot as "The Bedouin foe comes on." The last number was "Hymn to the Madonna," by Kremser, in which Miss Elma Igleman sang the soprano solo, accompanied by the chorus. Miss Igelman's clear, sweet voice was heard to advantage, and it rang out

It is the latest move in the fight and if the Republican factions continue to remain apart until the last day, when others of their number will begin to ipport Mr. Addicks, a fusion or compromise may be entered into by the legislators to beat the latter. Mr. Saulsbury arrived at the capital to-night, at the suggestion of leading Democrats, and while he declined to be interviewed, he admitted that the Democratic candidate of next Saturday and Monday will stand the best chance of becoming Senator Gray's successor. Three joint ballots were taken to-day. The first resulted: Saulsbury, Dem., 21; Addicks, Union Rep., 18; Richard, reg Rep., 11; absent, 2; total vote, 50; necessary to a choice, 26. No election. The other two ballots were the same, except that the regular Republicans dropped Richards and voted for Gen. James B. Wilson.

Row Over Baileyism in Texas.

AUSTIN, Tex., March 8.-The Senate of the Texas Legislature to-day had the liveliest kind of a row over consideration of the House resolution indorsing Congressman the vessels newly authorized will suffer. Bailey in his action in fighting against the seating of Gen. Joseph Wheeler in Congress, adopted by the House on Monday. An attempt was made to kill the resolution by referring it to a committee, which was defeated by a close vote-13 to 14. amendment was then adopted providing that the adoption of the resolution should not be construed as a reflection on Congressman Wheeler. An amendment setting forth that the adoption of the resolution should not be considered as allying the Texas Senate to Bailey's support for United States senator two years hence was voted down by the close vote of 13 to-14. After much speech making, during which seantors expressed themselves as being opposed to Bailey-worshipping in any such marked manner, the friends of the resolution managed to get it adopted by a hurried viva voce vote, thus ending the controversy at

FALLING AT CINCINNATI

WATERS OF THE OHIO BEGAN TO RE-CEDE LAST NIGHT.

Reached the Maximum, 57.4 Feet, at o'Clock p. m .- Coal Now Coming Down-River Rising Below.

CINCINNATI, March 8.-The river Cincinnati reached its maximum at 1 o'clock this afternoon of 57.4. At 2 o'clock it began to fall, and, with slight fluctuations once or twice in reaching the maximum, it was practically stationary till 8 o'clock to-night. At 9 o'clock it had fallen one inch. At all points from Cincinnati to the headwaters of the Ohio the river is falling, while points below Cincinnati it is rising. Fair of people use these patterns and cold weather is reported from the upper Ohio and tributaries except at Warren, Pa., on the Allegheny not far from the New York line, where it is reported warm. Between Cincinnati and Pittsburg at various points twelve coal tows, aggregating about 3,500,000 bushels, which has been tied up on account of flood and high winds, were all released to-day and have started down are sensational, Mrs. Akin claiming that the river. Navigation is resumed at all points except that boats will not start from Pittsburg to Cincinnati until Saturday. Only two towboats got out with coal from Pittsburg to-day. It is not likely that any others will get out on this rise on account of the rapid recession of the river at that point. At Charleston, W. Va., the Kanawha has fallen very rapidly, and people driven from homes by the flood are returning. In the region of Huntington, W. Va., where there has been great suffering, the fall in the river has mitigated it to a considerable extent. People driven from homes there will be able to return to-morrow or Friday. Much the same may be said of the East Front-street > sufferers at Portsmouth, O. At least seventy-five families are refugees from the flood in Newport, Ky., where the flood is at its worst. These people are lodged in public buildings, including the courthouse, police station and in the spare rooms of benevolent citizens, as well as among their friends and relatives. The river will have to fall two and a half feet to allow them to set about the work of cleaning out their forsaken homes.

In Cincinnati there has been no interruption to trade by the river and very little interruption to it by rafiroad. It is believed that in twenty-four hours the river will have fallen from two to two and a half feet. By Friday morning, if not sooner, the Grand Central depot will be in use again.

Part of Madison Under Water. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

MADISON, Ind., March 8.-The flood in the Ohio river has about culminated at this point, showing fifty feet of water, swelling very slowly. Front street and the railroad tracks on the south side are inundated, and water fills the cellars at Trow's mill. Pennsylvania Railroad freight depot, William Tell House and Western Hotel. Several families in low lands have moved to places of safety. The damage is small.

Robert Williams, United States internal revenue agent in charge of the District of Greater New York, has been promoted by Piece of Iron Pipe Filled with Explo-Secretary Gage to be deputy commissioner of internal revenue, to fill the vacancy caused by the promotion of Deputy Com-missioner George M. Wilson to be commissioner. Mr. Williams has had many years experience and is regarded as one of the most efficient men in the service. The attorney general has rendered a decision touching the operation of that paragraph of the naval personnel act which provides for the compulsory retirement of officers in case the vacancies in the grades fall below forty in any one year. The question presented was whether this paragraph is to be regarded as taking effect as to the current fiscal year, or whether its and a large number of other offices and action would be deferred until one full year had run from the date of approval of the act. The attorney general decides that the retirements must be made June 30 next. The officers who have been promoted and confirmed under the terms of he personnel bill are now agitated over the question of whether or not they must be examined physically and mentally before receiving their commissions. It is probable that the examinations will be held, though, under the circumstances, they will be light and formal. Senator Jones, of Arkansas, is recovering gradually from his attack of Monday, and to-day was resting easily and quietly.

To-day's statement of the condition of the treasury shows: Available cash balance, $263,543.058; gold reserve, $235,673,615.

It has now been discovered at the Navy Department that in all probability the deveyized armor for the three battle ships, Maine, Ohio and Missouri, and the four monitors under construction. This is owing to an error made in the last paragraph of the naval appropriation act. The word "this" was used instead of "that" in the sentence authorizing the secretary to purchase armor for the vessels "under the limitations as to price for the same imposed by this It happens that the armor-making companies are so filled with contract work that they will not be free to assume any additional contracts before next February so that if Congress comes promptly to the rescue of the navy at the beginning of the next session no actual delay will result in the case of these particular ships, though

The secretary of the treasury has received from Superitnendent Pritchett, of the coast and geodetic survey, a strong protest against the arrest of two officials of his department at New Orleans during the Mardi Gras festivities in February last. It appears from Mr. Pritchett's letter that "Mr. Phelps and Mr. Frisby, alds in the coast and geodetic survey, both men of high standing and character, were arrested and taken to prison on the charge of being pickpockets. They were refused permission to communicate with friends and were subjected to shamewere put is said to have been vile beyond description; they were compelled to spend the night in company with low criminals and were subjected to kicks and blows by the guards and were treated in a most inhuman and outrageous manner." Superintendent Pritchett says that these gentlemen have a right to look to the department for protection, and therefore he asks that the matter be brought to the attention of the United States district attorney at New Orleans, and that a demand be made for the dismissal of the officials concerned. Mr. Frisby and Mr. Phelps are on duty on the schooner Quick. Secretary Gage as yet has taken no action, but it is likely that the matter will be investigated.

Dr. Cabelle Whitehead, assayer of the United States mint, has been tendered and has accepted an important position in the service of the Turkish government. He will shortly depart for Constantinople to enter upon the duties of the office, which will be virtually that of director general of industries. The appointment is a direct result of will meet at 3 o'clock.

In view of the failure of the American-Canadian joint high commission to come to any agreement on the subject of the seal fisheries, the Treasury Department is considering the question of dispatching one or more revenue cutters to Bering sea to protect the interests of the United States from illegal sealing. This is customary on the part of both the British and American governments, and is in accordance with the provisions of the Paris tribunal of arbitration. The tribunal also provided that the regulations prepared thereunder may be changed after a certain number of years and treasury officials have called on the State Department for a statement as to the diplomatic situation before taking any action.

NITROGLYCERIN BOMB.

sive Left in Front of a Building. CLEVELAND, O., March 8 .- A nitroglycerin bomb was found to-day in front of the big Hikok office building, corner Euclid avenue and Erie street. It was a piece of iron pipe eight inches long and about an inch thick, sealed at both ends and stamped "nitroglycerin." The police say the bomb, is filled with nitroglycerin, but beyond this they are very reticent. In the building are located the headquarters of the Nickel-plate, the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling offices

Made His Promise Good. For impersonating an officer, Edward Adams, living on East Washington street, was arrested by Sergeant Scheigert and Patrolmen Slate and Green. He told the officers a story and represented that he had been married to the woman with whom he was found, and, to make the story good, when he appeared in Police Court yesterday, he obtained leave to go to his room for his marriage papers. He went to his room, then to the county clerk and then to Justice Smock's office, returning to the Po-
